

Starring Oliver, Oliver and Oliver, etc

Faringdon Community Theatre group was delighted with the fruits of its innovatory series of workshops for junior school children

After only half a dozen sessions, some 30 children aged from 8 -13 were able to put on a show of their own, based on excerpts from the hit musical Oliver. Leading parts were taken in turn by several budding thespians. Drama group veterans who worked together to put the youngsters through their paces were delighted with the enthusiasm, and impressed by some of the acting talents shown — and they plan to repeat the exercise. Around 120 parents went along to see the mini-show.
